GOOD PRINTING need not necessarily cost very much more than bad printing. Actually, it never costs as much. And this is for the simple reason that what you pay for, that produces what you have to have, is cheap; and no matter how cheap anything is, it is dear at any price if it doesn't exactly serve the purpose.

Victoria

Victoria was founded in 1843 by Factor (afterwards Sir James) Douglas, when the States of Oregon and Washington were transferred to the United States.

This new post was necessary in order to establish a fort in the new territory, Fort Vancouver, on the banks of the Columbia, remaining the headquarters on the Pacific. The town first came into prominence in the Cariboo gold excitement of '58 and the early '60's, there being at that time about 5,000 people, mostly living in tents.

The city was incorporated in 1862 and has had a steady growth up to the present time. It is a modern city in every way.

It owns its own waterworks systems, there being two—the Elk Lake system (which is not at present used) and the Sooke Lake system, which has recently been developed at the cost of $3,000,000, and which delivers into the city by gravity 21,000,000 gallons per day.

Victoria has 47 miles of paved streets.

Victoria has 120 miles of sidewalks.

Victoria has 55 miles of boulevards.

It owns its own sewerage system (separate), which has been put in at the cost of about $2,000,000 to date.

The acreage of the city is 4,637 acres.

The population of the city and environs is 60,000 people.

The municipal assessment for 1917 is $53,694,922 on land, and $25,196,630 on buildings, making a total of $78,891,552.

Victoria is recognized as one of the famous tourist cities on the American continent; it is the one city that is "different"; it is the capital of British Columbia, and though thoroughly a Canadian city in sentiment, is almost as interesting to the American people as a visit to the British Isles.

Its scenery, residences, and private grounds all remind one of the Old Land, especially in these days, when the streets are flocked with men training for the front, and the familiar Highland costume is frequently seen.

It is the gateway to Canada's auto paradise, there being over 1,000 miles of the most delightful automobile trips to be found in Western America. The highways pass through quaint villages and delightful summer resorts, there being opportunity for tourists to break their journey every 20 or 25 miles at one of these numerous fishing and pleasure resorts.

Speaking of fishing, trout is caught in all the many lakes and streams, while the finest salmon on the North American continent is to be had at Campbell River.

The hotel accommodation, both in the city and throughout the Island, is most excellent, and the rates are extremely reasonable—in fact the combination of scenery, sport and climate (which is the coolest in summer of any found in the Pacific Northwest), make it the Island Playground of the Pacific.

The principal resorts reached by short trips by rail, auto or steamer, are Oak Bay, Brentwood, Sooke Harbor, Sidney, Shawnigan Lake, Duncan, Cowichan Bay, Cowichan Lake, Chemahmus, Qualicum (where there are very fine golf links in connection with the hotel), Cameron Lake, Alberni, Great Central Lake, and Campbell River. All of these can be reached by automobile in one day.

An added attraction is the Dominion Government Observatory, situated on Little Saanich Mountain, now known as Observatory Hill. After an exhaustive search and inquiry on the part of government officials, lasting over a period of two years, it was decided to build the Observatory at Victoria, on account of the equable climate and the low range of temperature.

The telescope is one of the two largest in the world, and no visitor to the city should return home without seeing this wonderful instrument. The Observatory is reached by electric interurban or by motor. It is eight miles from the centre of the city, and a well paved road extends to the door of the Observatory.

Since the European war broke out, people are beginning to discover Victoria and its environs. It does not derive its reputation from the artificial beauty of buildings and parks, etc., altogether, but rather from a combination of these, with magnificent natural site and environment, together with flora unusual in Canada. Those who know Victoria say that there the grass is of a deeper green and more luxuriant, as in the British Isles.

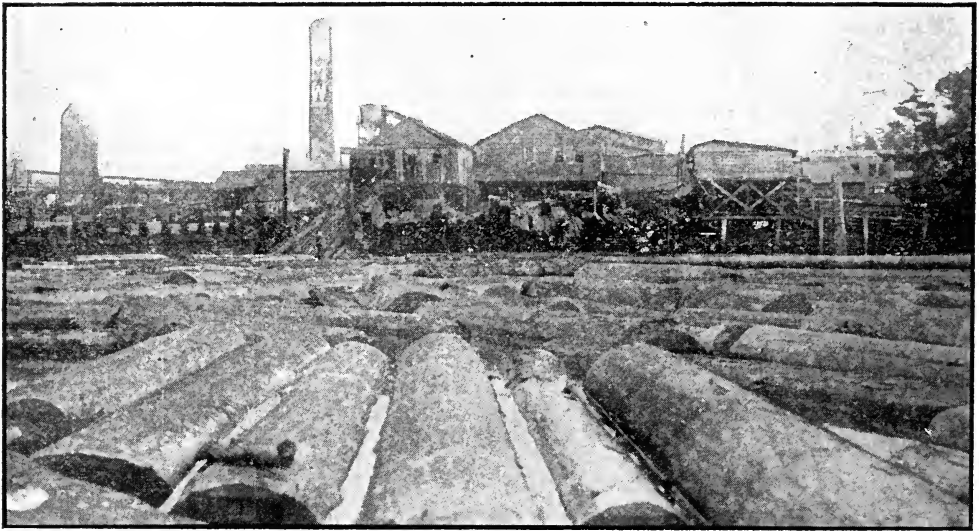

Certainly the climate in Victoria is remarkable. Describing it and the country surrounding, Dr. Bryce, in "Climate and Health Resorts of Canada," says: "In all this country the fruits of temperate climates grow well, and farm animals live out of doors the year round."

The situation of Victoria, sheltered by the Island mountain ranges, causes its rainfall to be much less than that of the cities of Vancouver and New Westminster on the adjacent mainland, the greater portion of the moisture from the ocean being caught and condensed on the westward side of the Island ranges, and a second heavy precipitation does not occur until the moisture giving winds strike the highlands on the opposite coast.

Victoria has the distinction of being the oldest community on the Northern Pacific Coast of the continent. It takes precedence in this respect over such great cities as Seattle, Vancouver, etc. For many years Victoria was the chief trade centre of the Pacific Coast, and particularly during the days of the great gold rush to the Fraser River it enjoyed a remarkable prosperity. Again in 1897-8, during the stampede to the Alaskan fields, Victoria was a centre for outfitting and general business.

Just prior to the declaration of war in 1914, Victoria had reached a state of exceptional prosperity. Scores of the most modern office and other business buildings had been erected; a great industrial area had been made ready; the Dominion Government had expended upwards of $2,000,000 on the building of a great ocean breakwater and docks; the entire downtown business district had been fitted with ornamental light standards; there had been considerable extensions of street railway service; the city had done more moving than any other city of equal size on the continent, and there was every prospect that this great growth would continue steadily.

Unfortunately, world conditions following the declaration of war affected Victoria very materially, and for two years development was largely at a standstill. Today, however, business is increasing steadily, and there is a certainty now, that the city will continue to grow on sound business lines.

The demand for ships has served to develop in Victoria an industry for which this city, with its excellent industrial facilities, in connection with the tremendous areas of the world's finest timber at its door, is specially fitted, namely shipbuilding.

Victoria also has contributed very materially to the manufacture of munitions of war of various kinds. The tremendous areas of marketable timber are providing thousands of feet of lumber for aeroplanes, and the wonderfully rich deposits of copper, coal and other materials, to be found on the island of which Victoria is the largest centre, are of vast assistance in the carrying on of the war.

There is no doubt but that the development which may be expected, following the close of the war, will again place Victoria in the forefront of Canadian western cities. Opportunities await the capitalist and the business man in this city and Island. Now is the time, par excellence, to take advantage of them.

Every job of printing is worth a little discussion, or a great deal of it. Here, ink is everything; there, the paper; there, again, the engravings or typographical arrangement or style. But it's always the brains that somebody must put into the job, if it is to be a real job, and not an imitation.

GOOD PRINTING need not necessarily cost very much more than bad printing. Actually, it never costs as much. And this is for the simple reason that what you pay for, that produces what you have to have, is cheap; and no matter how cheap anything is, it is dear at any price if it doesn't exactly serve the purpose.

QUESTIONS

every place in CANADA

Is it a station? If so, on what railway, and must goods be prepaid? What Express Company reaches the place?

Is it a Post Office as well as a Railway Station?

Is it a Post Office off the line of railway? If so, what is the name of and distance to the nearest station, and can it be reached equally well from more than one station?

What is the name of the Bank there? If no bank, where is the nearest one located?

How far is the nearest place in question from here? How far from some other place?

What time do trains leave from here and what connections can be made? From here or elsewhere?

Is there a Telegraph Office or Customs Office there?

Where is the proper Bonding Warehouse or Customs Port for the place?

If it is a small place, where can legal or insurance documents or financial paper best be sent to be dealt with, or, in other words, where is the nearest "business centre" to the place?

Vancouver

Vancouver is situated on the Gulf of Georgia and on the north arm of the Fraser River. It was incorporated in 1886, but was almost completely destroyed by fire in the same year, so that the city is actually only thirty-two years old. In that time it has become the fourth city of Canada, an industrial centre and an important railway terminus. This is the result of the development of Vancouver's natural resources, a more general knowledge abroad of the city's attractions, and the increased transportation facilities by land and water.

Vancouver is Canada's most important Pacific port. It commands the western Canadian route to Russia, the Orient, Australia and New Zealand. It is in immediate touch with the grain fields of western Canada and, via the Panama Canal, affords the shortest route for shipments to Europe, South America and Mexico. In addition, it possesses one of the finest natural harbours in the world—open for shipping throughout the year—having more than twenty-eight miles of water-frontage and over twenty miles of deep-water anchorage.

The equipment of the harbour for handling shipping of all kinds is being steadily increased. Within recent years the Dominion Government has built one of the best equipped wharves on the Pacific Coast, and erected a terminal grain elevator. Shipping is constantly increasing and there is no doubt but that after the war the amount of tonnage entering the port will be doubled. During 1917 the deep-sea shipping tonnage was 3,174,339, while in 1916 it was 2,901,906.

Vancouver is the western terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian Northern Railway, as well as the Great Northern Railway and the Northern Pacific Railway. The Canadian Northern and the Great Northern Railways have been completed during the past year. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, the Kettle Valley, and the Pacific Great Eastern Railways also operate here. Within a few years Vancouver will probably be the terminus of at least half a dozen railways.

Vancouver proves her right to be called the commercial centre of British Columbia, for a glance at the business statistics during the past year exemplifies this. The bank clearings, customs returns, inland revenue receipts, building permits and postal returns for 1917 aggregated a total of $429,218,254, which is $97,834,346 more than for 1916.

Of the fifty-one banks in Vancouver, a hundred thousand dollars is the increase in their clearings for 1917 over 1916, and they have practically reached the record of "boom" times. This prosperity is due to the general improvement of business conditions, for at the close of 1917 nearly every industry in Vancouver was in a stronger position than at the beginning of the year, while nearly sixty new industries have come into existence. There are three hundred and fifty firms in the city, with an annual payroll of approximately $12,000,000. By far the greatest industry that has been established during the past few months is shipbuilding. A year ago this industry was practically unknown, and no ships were built here, whereas now millions of dollars are being spent in ship construction. Over 5,000 men are employed, and the annual payroll is approximately $7,000,000.

Other industries employing thousands of people include: Lumbering, foundries, sugar refineries, printing and publishing, food products, clothing, paper and pulp, and wholesales. Vancouver is making rapid strides towards becoming a city of factories. In 1915 the total value of goods manufactured in Vancouver amounted to $33,871,044—an increase of 124 per cent. over 1910. During this period Vancouver showed the greatest growth of any city in Canada.

A large area of reclaimed land—Granville Island, a few blocks from the retail business district of Vancouver—is providing excellent site for many industries, and will, in a few years, doubtless become the centre of Vancouver's industrial life.

There are many opportunities in Vancouver for manufacturers along special lines. Iron, coal and other minerals, building material and timber are available in large quantities, while others can be imported very cheaply.

Within a few miles of the city, 500,000 horse-power may be generated from waterfalls; 200,000 horse-power is now available as electrical energy.

The city controls its water system, which is supplied from mountain streams. The present daily supply is 36,000,000 gallons, with an additional 40,000,000 gallons in the city reservoir, and a total of 100,000,000 gallons available.

Vancouver is gradually becoming a Mecca of tourists, for the climate is pleasant and healthful the year round. The Japan current moderates the climate, summer and winter. The average temperature is about 48 degrees, and rarely rises above 90 degrees or falls below zero.

The innumerable attractions of Vancouver are to be found in every direction. Within a fifteen minutes' walk from the centre of the city is Stanley Park, renowned for its natural beauty. Here are to be found many miles of splendid motor roads, playgrounds, gardens and a zoo. In addition, there are many smaller parks throughout the city.

Vancouver has two of the finest bathing beaches on the Coast, right in the heart of the city. In 1916, over 600,000 people enjoyed the warm sea bathing here during the summer months.

Across the Inlet, within easy access from North Vancouver, are the beautiful canyons of Lynn Creek and Capilano, famed for their natural, rugged beauty.

Boating, fishing, automobiling, tennis, golf, football and hockey provide many forms of recreation summer and winter. Many enjoyable day and half-day excursions can be made by water to the numerous summer resorts a short distance from the city.

Vancouver is becoming not only a commercial and industrial centre, but a desirable residential city as well. In the past it has established a record for commercial and industrial growth, and in the future greater prosperity and advancement will attend this metropolis of British Columbia, the "Pearl of the Pacific."

J. R. DAVISON,
Industrial Commissioner.

THE PIONEER PRINTING HOUSE

Evans & Hastings

Every job of printing is worth a little discussion, or a great deal of it. Here, ink is everything; there, the paper; there, again, the engravings or typographical arrangement or style. But it's always the brains that somebody must put into the job, if it is to be a real job, and not an imitation.

$6.04 Premium Gives $1,000.00 Protection

Under Mutual Life of Canada policy No. 5893, issued in 1881, the first annual premium was $24.84.

ANNUAL DIVIDENDS

have reduced the premium, so that this year it is only $6.04, and will be even lower next and succeeding years.

This illustrates one of the advantages in Mutual Life of Canada Annual Dividend Policies.

You'll always be glad if you select "Canada's Only Mutual."

Lillooet & Cariboo Land Company, Limited

Owners of Large Tracts of Land in the Lillooet and Cariboo Districts of British Columbia

The lands are partly suitable for mixed farming in areas from a quarter-section upwards, and partly for sheep or cattle ranching in large blocks.

When writing please state the kind of land wanted and the acreage required.

The prices are very moderate and terms can be arranged. Applications from intending settlers or sheep and cattle men looking for new locations are specially desired. We have full data on all our lands.

☐ THE PROPER WAY to estimate the value of your range is to divide the present purchase price by the years of service usually given by a "Gurney-Oxford" Range, and the result will be less than the cost of one sack of flour per year.

☐ The high standard of the "Gurney-Oxford" Ranges will be maintained even though war conditions make it more difficult than usual.

☐ Write us for a catalogue and prices, which will be sent at once and without any obligation.

GOOD PRINTING need not necessarily cost very much more than bad printing. Actually, it never costs as much. And this is for the simple reason that what you pay for, that produces what you have, is cheap, and no matter how cheap anything is, it is dear at any price if it doesn't exactly serve the purpose.

Every job of printing is worth a little discussion, or a great deal of it. Here, ink is everything; there, the paper; there, again, the engravings or typographical arrangement or style. But it's always the brains that somebody must put into the job, if it is to be a real job, and not an imitation.

serve the purpose.

Evans & Hastings

PRINTING CO.

GOOD PRINTING need not necessarily cost very much more than bad printing. Actually, it never costs as much. And this is for the simple reason that what you pay for, that produces what you have to have, is cheap; and no matter how cheap anything is, it is dear at any price if it doesn't exactly serve the purpose.

Pacific Coast Lumberman

The only Journal published in BRITISH COLUMBIA representing the

Logging, Lumber and Shingle Industries

Reaching each month every sawmill, shingle mill and logging camp in the province, in addition to a large Eastern Canadian and foreign circulation.

Contains only up-to-the-minute and interesting news pertaining to the industries it represents.

Subscription rates—$2.00 per year in Canada, $3.00 per year United States and foreign.

Advertising rates on application.

"The British Columbia Farmer"

(Formerly Fruit and Farm Magazine)

Official Organ of the United Farmers of British Columbia

A practical paper for practical farmers. Carefully edited—specially adapted to British Columbia conditions, covering every phase of agriculture in the province. Special departments devoted to General Farming, Stock-raising, Dairying, Fruit-growing, Poultry, Gardening, Bee-keeping, etc.

Each issue contains timely articles from leading agriculturists, each a specialist in his own particular line, illustrating approved methods for increasing production, minimizing labor, expense and loss, and promoting efficiency in every department of agricultural effort.

THE BRITISH COLUMBIA FARMER has the official recognition and hearty support of all the leading agricultural organizations in British Columbia, and contains news of the doings of the various local branches in every section of the province.

The paper that is read by all the best farmers, because it is interesting, up-to-date and helpful—the paper that is used by the leading advertisers because it brings results.

Subscription price, $1.00 per year.

Advertising Spells SUCCESS

Show me a successful firm that doesn't advertise. In the vernacular of the day, "There ain't no such animal." Trade journals pave the way for bigger business. Advertising in a trade publication with a class circulation covering a special field is always productive, which spells increased sales. In successful advertising you can't use the same argument appealing to general readers. This is an era of specialism. Boil down your arguments for each industry. Drive them home with a specially worded advertisement in the standard publications of British Columbia. Each covers its field, with no duplication in circulation.

Every job of printing is worth a little discussion, or a great deal of it. Here, ink is everything; there, the paper; there, again, the engravings or typographical arrangement or style. But it's always the brains that somebody must put into the job, if it is to be a real job, and not an imitation.

GOOD PRINTING need not necessarily cost very much more than bad printing. Actually, it never costs as much. And this is for the simple reason that what you pay for, that produces what you have to have, is cheap; and no matter how cheap anything is, it is dear at any price if it doesn't exactly serve the purpose.

Every job of printing is worth a little discussion, or a great deal of it. Here, ink is everything; there, the paper; there, again, the engravings or typographical arrangement or style. But it's always the brains that somebody must put into the job, if it is to be a real job, and not an imitation.

PRINTING CO.

GOOD PRINTING need not necessarily cost very much more than bad printing. Actually, it never costs as much. And this is for the simple reason that what you pay for, that produces what you have to have, is cheap; and no matter how cheap anything is, it is dear at any price if it doesn't exactly serve the purpose.

Every job of printing is worth a little discussion, or a great deal of it. Here, ink is everything; there, the paper; there, again, the engravings or typographical arrangement or style. But it's always the brains that somebody must put into the job, if it is to be a real job, and not an imitation.

VANCOUVER, B. C.

GOOD PRINTING need not necessarily cost very much more than bad printing. Actually it never costs as much. And this is for the simple reason that what you pay for, that produces what you have to have, is cheap, and no matter how cheap anything is, it is dear at any price if it doesn't exactly serve the purpose.

THE PIONEER PRINTING HOUSE

Every job of printing is worth a little discussion, or a great deal of it. Here, ink is everything; there, the paper; there, again, the engravings or typographical arrangement or style. But it's always the brains that somebody must put into the job, if it is to be a real job, and not an imitation.

GOOD PRINTING need not necessarily cost very much more than bad printing. Actually, it never costs as much. And this is for the simple reason that what you pay for, that produces what you have to have, is cheap; and no matter how cheap anything is, it is dear at any price if it doesn't exactly serve the purpose.

Every job of printing is worth a little discussion, or a great deal of it. Here, ink is everything; there, the paper; there, again, the engravings or typographical arrangement or style. But it's always the brains that somebody must put into the job, if it is to be a real job, and not an imitation.

WESTWARD the STAR of EMPIRE WENDS ITS WAY!

So little read, so much to read!

The fleeting hour, the pressing need

Counsel: "Choose well! Life's short, indeed;

To what you read give heed, give heed!"

Established in 1911, the BRITISH COLUMBIA MONTHLY Aims to Enter Every Home in City, Suburb and Country whose occupants believe in British Columbia and wish to see it prosper in every worthy way.

The Ideals of Service of this Magazine affect Literature and Life — "Social, Educational, Literary and Religious" — and involve independence of "Party, sect or faction." It is interested in all public questions, and in sympathy with those things that recreate the mind and inspire the heart.

Subscription Rates: $1.50 per year, $2.50 for two years, in advance.

The Advisory Editorial Committee includes Rev. R. G. MacBeth, M.A., author of "The Romance of Western Canada," etc.; Robert Allison Hood, M.L., author of "The Chivalry of Keith Leicester"; Managing Editor, D. A. Chalmers.

Citizens of Canada, Loyal British Columbians, and Heads of Homes are invited to co-operate with us in our aim to give the Canadian West an increasingly useful monthly magazine set on such COMMUNITY SERVICE—FEARLESS, FAIR AND FREE!

LET BRITISH COLUMBIA FLOURISH UNDER THE INSPIRATION OF WORTHY IDEALS!

BUSINESS MEN OF BRITISH COLUMBIA and OTHERS INTERESTED in BRITISH COLUMBIA BUSINESS

In our Advertising Section we put Quality before Quantity, but we mean to have quantity, too. If you have a commodity on the market — Wholesale or Retail — which you wish to put before or into THE BEST HOMES IN THE WEST, write for our advertising rates.

BRITISH COLUMBIA MONTHLY

Publishing Office: 1317 HARO STREET, VANCOUVER, B. C.

R. G. DUN & CO.

Proprietors of THE MERCANTILE AGENCY, maintain some 225 offices throughout the world for the collection and dissemination of information regarding the financial and credit standing of merchants, manufacturers, traders, bankers, etc.

In British Columbia, offices are conducted at Vancouver and Victoria; other points in the province are visited regularly by representatives sent out by these offices.

At each office a vast amount of information regarding traders is available. In addition to these detailed reports, The Mercantile Agency publishes quarterly reference books containing the names of merchants, etc., with estimated financial and credit ratings, up-to-date lists of banks and bankers, good maps, and summaries of abstract of collection laws, etc., of each province.
